Pattern:

With color 1, make magic ring.

Round 1: Into magic ring, ch2, dc (counts as first dc2tog), ch1, *dc2tog, ch1, rep from * 4 more times until you have 6 dc2togs, ss into first dc, cut yarn and tie off. Pull magic ring in tightly & secure.

Round 2: With color 2, secure into any ch sp of round 1. ch2, dc (counts as first dc2tog), ch1, dc2tog in same sp, ch1, *in next st, dc2tog, ch1, dc2tog, ch1, rep from * to end (you'll have 12 dc2togs), ss in first dc, cut yarn and tie off.

Round 3: With color 3, secure into any ch sp of round 2. ch3, 2dc in same sp, *3dc in next ch sp, rep from * to end, ss in 3rd ch, but do not cut yarn.

Round 4: Still with color 3, ss in next 2 dcs and into the next ch sp, ch3, 2dc in same sp, *3dc in next ch sp, rep from * to end, ss in 3rd ch, but do not cut yarn.

Round 5: Rep round 4, cut yarn and tie off. Weave in all ends.

Finishing:

Take a 12" strand of yarn (any color you like) and weave it through the last row. This will secure the cover to the knob. Try this on your doorknob now, cinching the woven strand tight and stretching the cover around the doorknob as if blocking it, making it nice and tight. This sufficiently fit my doorknob, but it's who knows how many years old. If necessary, go back and add another repeat of round 4. Tie the woven strand to secure your cover to your doorknob. It might be good to tie it in a bow so that you can easily go back and tighten it later if the yarn stretches, so don't trim your edges too short!
